2	Likely that people under-estimate how complex oil and gas projects are.	3/5/2021 10:56 AM
3	Other than people that have undertaken a Project Management qualification, I do not think that people involved with projects give too much time to think about whether a project is Complex or not. I believe most people gauge projects by their size, then by simple or complicated, but rarely complex.	3/4/2021 11:40 AM
4	Still seeking the 'Holy Grail', Collaborative, Incentivised Win-Win Contracts?	3/4/2021 11:31 AM
5	Often a too rigid PM approach is taken and project proceeds with insufficient risk definition or properly considering and exploring options in an incremental way	3/4/2021 10:51 AM
6	A lot of individuals are used to complicated projects and try and apply the same skill set to a complex project. These individuals are not aware of some of the differences and when they are on a complex project.	3/3/2021 4:05 PM
7	None	3/3/2021 2:30 PM
8	Knowledge and skills can never be described as "complete"	3/3/2021 11:47 AM
9	None	3/3/2021 11:07 AM
10	Complex project are sometimes the projects we consider simple. For example, an anomalies program might be a collection of 500 small replacements. But collectively, it is complex. Similarly, we often find ourselves underestimating the complexity, even if all the signs are present. The will to get approval to start may sometimes encourage us to overlook key risks.	3/3/2021 9:22 AM

16	Based on 20 years project execution generally in frontier locations where projects become more complex	3/1/2021 5:54 PM
17	Not enough awareness of what defines a 'complex' project	3/1/2021 5:25 PM
18	Both Non Technical risks and Interface complexity is always underestimated	3/1/2021 12:38 PM
19	General approach is to try to simplify rather than acknowledge complexity and manage it	2/26/2021 8:29 AM
20	Many people think if they've done one project, they can do every project	2/25/2021 5:24 PM
21	Managing a complex problem needs a different skill set than traditional project management	2/25/2021 9:21 AM
22	I believe the O&G Industry has been involved in many Complex Project. I have described "good" as lessons have learned and been implemented but there is still room for improvement.	2/22/2021 8:44 AM
